MXR AUDIO STAND

"Once you experience first-rate resonance control, you cannot go back."

"A lot of equipment -- much of it good and a good deal of it better than that -- has graced my listening room since Mike Latvis... of Harmonic Resolution Systems came to my home several months ago.... Still, at the end of the review cycle, almost all of them have gone back from whence they came. Not so the HRS equipment rack; it's not going anywhere. In fact, as soon as I can scrape together the money, I intend to purchase another."

The MXR Audio Stand is an industry leading design that eliminates noise revealing a new level of musical performance. The frame itself is manufactured from six different materials including billet-machined aircraft aluminums and exotic finishes over a composite inner frame structure. The highly acclaimed HRS isolation bases load directly into the MXR frame as the shelf system. The MXR frame optimizes isolation base performance while offering unique flexibility and functionality. It is the last system you will ever need.
